The Department of Data Science proudly organized a remarkable event titled “Data Sphere”, celebrating knowledge, innovation, and teamwork. The program commenced with a divine prayer song, invoking blessings for the success of the event and setting a serene tone for the day.

Following the invocation, Dr. Y. Anuradha, Professor and Head of CSE (Data Science), warmly welcomed everyone and delivered an inspiring inaugural address. She emphasized the importance of regularly organizing academic and technical events that encourage students to enhance practical learning, leadership qualities, and confidence. She further highlighted that such initiatives — including programs like Data Sphere — play a vital role in strengthening students’ technical knowledge, teamwork, and communication skills.

The event began with the Literature Quiz, designed to test students’ understanding of concepts in Data Structures, Machine Learning, and Basic Mathematics. Participants enthusiastically took part, showcasing their technical knowledge and problem-solving skills. The winners of this round were appreciated for their outstanding performance.

Following this, the Oral Quiz was conducted as a separate game that challenged participants’ quick thinking and conceptual clarity. This round was equally engaging, filled with excitement and learning. The winners were recognized and awarded by our HOD, who encouraged them to continue their journey of learning and excellence.

One of the most significant moments of the event was the official launch of the Data Science Department Website, inaugurated by the HOD of the Computer Science and Engineering Department, along with faculty members of Data Science. The department also launched its magazine, showcasing past events, achievements, and student contributions — marking an important milestone in the department's digital journey.

The event was graced by the presence of Dr. C. V. Guru Rao, Professor & Head of the Department of Computer Science and Engineering (CSE); Dr. D. Uma Devi, Professor & Head of the Department of CSE (AI & ML); Dr. Y. Anuradha, Professor & Head of the Department of CSE (Data Science); and Dr. K. B. Madhuri, Professor & Dean, School of CSE, IT & Computer Applications. They delivered motivational speeches, sharing valuable insights on academic excellence, personal growth, and career development. Their words inspired students to overcome challenges and strive for innovation.
